Global Pediatric Endocrinology and Diabetes

Keeping you up to date on Global Health in Pediatric Endocrinology and Diabetes around the world

Welcome to GPED's 12th Newsletter!

We are excited to announce our first globally edited newsletter. Huge thanks to all to colleagues from 5 different geographical regions around the globe who have joined our editorial board to bring more diverse perspectives, opinions and themes to this. Meet: Dr. Francisco Grob (Latin America), Shaoh Minzha (Arab Countries), Ganesh Jeevalkar (India), Yun Yun (China) and Saravesh Aashu (Africa) - we are thrilled to have them as Associate Editors, and excited to showcase their first contributions in this newsletter!

In this edition, you will find updates about pediatric endocrine conferences by three of our member organizations: GPED-BESPE, SLEP and ASPED-SPAD, NCD Child chair Dr. Marie Haugum to guest authoring a report on the Convention on the Rights of the Child and SDG 3, and two colleagues are providing perspectives on global newborn screening for congenital hypothyroidism.

Interested in contributing? We are looking for GPED members who are social media savvy or simply interested in spreading GPED related news via our Facebook page at www.facebook.com/globalpediatrics and/or via Twitter at twitter.com/GlobalPediatrics.

Interested in contributing even MORE? Our secretary general Jean-Francois Chanoine's term is coming to an end and we are looking for a GPED member who is interested in filling this exciting leadership position. Interested members please send an email to info@globalpediatrics.org.

Enjoy the read!

Neonatal screening Program in Kerala, India

Many steps are being taken in India for the implementation of newborn screening for congenital hypothyroidism (CHS). The Indian state of Kerala which has the best healthcare indicators amongst all states has taken a lead in this field. Following is a brief report of the NBS program by the Government of Kerala.

The Government of Kerala has initiated NBS in March 2018. Initially screening was started for 4 major threshold disorders namely Congenital Hypothyroidism (CH), Congenital Adrenal Hyperplasia (CAH), Phenylketonuria (PKU) and Glucose 6 phosphate deficiency (G6PD). Since Phenylketonuria could not be detected in any of the blood samples after screening for four years, this disease was replaced by Galactosemia from June 2018 onwards. As on December 2018, 461,863 neonates were screened. Government hospitals conducting 100 or more deliveries per month, including government Medical Colleges, were included in the first phase.

CH was diagnosed in 237 cases (prevalence 1 in 2948); CAH in 20 cases (1 in 23542), and G6PD in 46 cases (1 in 10038) after performing confirmatory tests. One case of galactosemia could be diagnosed since its introduction in the screening program. Majority of cases were from 2 major institutions, Government Medical College Kozhikode and Government Medical College Trivandrum. The Government has now planned to extend the program to the whole state to include deliveries conducted in private sector as well.
